1) Eng I Reflection – for Pick-up #3 (3/25/08)

Romeo and Juliet had an instant attraction, which led to a secret marriage and death – all within an extremely short period of time. Definitely love at first site.

Do you believe in love at first site? Why or why not? Do you believe attraction is the same thing as love? What do you feel is the meaning of the word “love”? Do you feel that Romeo and Juliet were truly in love? Why or why not?

What was your favorite part of the school break you just had? If you could do anything differently, what would that have been? Give details of your favorite spring break. If money was no object, describe your dream “spring break.” Do you feel the break has energized you to finish well this year, or just made it harder to get back to work?

West Side Story has much the same plot line as Romeo and Juliet. Think up a modern version of R&J. Adjust the ages to fit and adjust the conflict elements to fit. Write a basic character log and synopsis of your story. It can be fanciful and you are not limited to earthlings or humans. Use your imagination.

4) Eng I Reflection – for Pick-up #3 (4/15/08)

After viewing the introduction documentary on To Kill a Mockingbird, how do you feel about the state of civil rights in the 1930's? How have things changed in the past almost eighty years? How do you feel about the changes that have been made? What do you see as the “state of civil rights” today?
